

Reddit

Context

r/worldnews

► Israel's supreme court rejects human rights group's request to declare it unlawful for soldiers to shoot at unarmed civilians.

[OTHER]: I guess if this passed my first question would be to define "unarmed"

Ground Truth

Medics who were shot and tear gassed, for one.

SFT

I guess if this passed my first question would be to define "unarmed"

SIM Reward

Yeah, but if you're gonna use that as a way out, you're just making it worse.

Turing (Ours)

Yeah, well I guess you'd better get out your dictionary and define that word too.

Chat

Context

[User]: do elephants got cancer

[AI]: Elephants can get cancer, but it's rare. They have multiple copies of a cancer-suppressing gene. This is known as Peto's paradox.

Ground Truth

how thick is elephants skin

SFT

what is Peto's paradox

SIM Reward

how many copies of the cancer supresing gene do elephants have

Turing (Ours)

what is the name of the gene